Dear _____,

I am writing to apply for the POSITION at COMPANY. As a junior at the University of Washington studying Human Centered Design & Engineering, my education and technical experience makes me well suited for the outlined job.

I have a strong background in full-stack development as my experience in programming websites for professional and personal projects involved learning a variety of coding frameworks and libraries. This was especially apparent when I programmed a website for Sensors, Energy & Automation Laboratory at the University of Washington, where I developed an application through React, Redux, and Firebase to manage projects and researcher progress. I also have a strong background in database management as my experience within university coursework taught me how to effectively write SQL queries, while also understanding the underlying structures to relational databases. For the final project in the course, I created a Java flight reservation application with Microsoft Azure that prompts users to login, sign in, reserve, pay, view, and cancel flights. I would like to apply these experiences and skills at COMPANY and am confident that I will effectively contribute and learn if given the opportunity.

I hope to build upon my previous experiences at COMPANY and look forward to the possibility of discussing the position in further detail. I can be reached by e-mail at clifford.kei.hartley@gmail.com, or by phone at (360) 672-5365.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Kei Hartley
